

The Hong Kong Institution of Engineering Surveyors Committee of IT & Publication

Dear HKIES members,

If you have come across the Hong Kong Institution of Engineering Surveyors web site, you should observe that the HKIES web site has been changed its layout. It is a new arrangement which fulfill our mission statement that providing a more modern view and professional image to our members and institution to the general public. In the new arrangement, the HKIES web site will be renewed, the newsletter will be publicized as HTML format in order to fit to the modern life style of Engineering Surveyors. In the future, our member not only can acquire information through the HKIES web, but they also will be let to communicate with the institution through the HKIES web interactively. For example they can apply CPD, change their status such as their corresponding address or even find themselves a job through our web site. With more and more interactive functions included, finally we hope our web site will become a HKIES portal or a collaborative hub which attracting your attention and providing more and more benefits to our members. However the most important catalyst of our work is your supporting and participation. Therefore if you have any advices or improvement comments, please feel free to telling us by our contacts.

Yours Truly,

Lau Hon Wai

Director of IT & Publication
