UAV technology is now popular using for low elevation aerial photo making. Its mobility is much high and cost effective than satellite and traditional aerial photo making. More on-demand aerial photo can be made per the user ad-hoc request.

The cost model and operation model of Fixed Wing, Rotate Wing and No Wing UAV are suitable developing country or complementary aerial photo solution for developed country especially on some application which don't need high accuracy.

The implementation of Blimp type UAV for the low elevation aerial photo capturing will be represented as a case study of UAV application.
