Abstract:

Construction disputes are commonly raised between two parties due to various reasons, such as delay, payment, costs, etc. Surveyors are sometimes invited to the court for becoming expert witnesses. With their profession in construction, they would provide comprehensive advice on background information and exhibits searching. The speaker, Dr. Simon Chee, will introduce the way that engineering surveyors assist in settling legal disputes and the criteria of a qualified exhibit. He will also suggest dispute resolutions other than traditional legal proceedings.

Dr. Simon Chee, President of Hong Kong Construction Arbitration Centre, is a practising Architect and Authorised person. He has served in working groups, committees and task forces of the Hong Kong Institute of Architects, the Construction Industry Council and the Development Bureau with the aim at developing of a better global dispute resolution environment for the construction sector in Hong Kong.
